2013 Survey of Independent Agents On Key Factors in Relationships with Carriers

Channel Harvest Research has launched its sixth annual study of agent-carrier relationships. Each of our large, comprehensive survey projects collects information from more than 1,500 agents. But each study is different—it's all based on what our insurance carrier customers want to know for strategic purposes. We continue to examine developing technologies, your field reps, training techniques, emerging markets, agency business changes, and more.

Sixth annual survey co-sponsored by Insurance Journal magazine
Study to be published in March 2013
